Press Release

Moody Monday is a design studio based in Edinburgh that creates contemporary hand printed wallpaper, luxury fabric and interior accessories. Moody Monday's innovative collections of bold provocative prints have debuted to critical acclaim at trade shows across Europe.

Debating in May 2016, our new collection 'STELLAR' is inspired by the boundless hidden beauty of the sky and space. This luxurious, contemporary collection of designs captures the dualistic nature of the skies with a colour palette evoking both dawn and dusk. Vibrant jewel colours accompany mesmerising geometrical patterns paired against contrasting backgrounds.

What makes the infinite wonders of the galaxy so intriguing? Our 'STELLAR' collection creatively examines the many complex elements comprised within our vast universe. The variety of extraordinary shapes & textures hidden within the sky and space reveal an often-overlooked beauty. From the dazzling colours of the Northern Lights to the abstract patterns of constellations, the depths of sky and space provide an intriguing array of inspiration.

The 'STELLAR' collection consists of four wallpaper designs in varying colour ways, three fabric patterns, two cushion designs, four coasters and a set of matching fabric, coaster and placemat designs. One of our most provocative patterns, Nebulae, consists of strong geometric shapes with intense contrasting colours that creatively interpret the enigmatic nature of space. The designs comprised in this collection are a sublime fit for modern interiors, be it residential or commercial.

Moody Monday is exhibiting its range of luxury wallpapers, cushions, fabrics and interior accessories at the International Contemporary Furniture Fair (ICFF) in New York from 14 – 17 May 2016. All products are sourced and handcrafted in the UK.
